What Is Going On Tonight?
United Order Golden Cross, Willimantic Commandery, No. 256, meets.

The weekly meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club was held Tuesday noon with an attendance of over 90 per cent. President Frank H. Foss presided. The entertainment of the day was in charge of a special committee, comprising Harry W. Standish, Albert W. French and Augustus Greene. The speaker of the day was James Thwing, president of the New Haven Rotary club. The message he brought concerned Rotary Principles and Ideals, the address being in connection with anniversary week of the Rotary club.

James Thwing, who is connected with the educational department of the Dry Goods Economist, and a former member of the Richmond, Va. Rotary club, spoke briefly, stating that all success comes to us through others. In defining the Rotary movement he said that it had changed the old idea of every man for himself, to that in which the success of every man is bound up with the success of every other.

Time to get up—if you want your breakfast, and your train!

A lucky strike for you this morning.

LUCKY STRIKE!

When we discovered the toasting process six years ago, it was a Lucky Strike for us.

Why? Because now millions of smokers prefer the special flavor of the Lucky Strike Cigarette—because that of his fellowmen. A communication from A. L. Weatherhead, manager of the local exchange of the Southern New England Telephone Company, was read, inviting the Rotarians to inspect the local exchange at an early date. The matter was referred to the entertainment committee, to complete arrangements.

The annual meeting of the welfare bureau, postponed from last month, was held Tuesday night at the room on Valley street, ten members attending. In the absence of the president, E. Eugene Lincoln, Mrs. Robert H. Lincoln presided. The report of P. J. Laramee, treasurer, gave the receipts as $2589.26, and the expenses as $2458.77, leaving a balance of $130.49.

In the report of the secretary, Mrs. O. M. Clark, the activities of the bureau for the year were listed as follows: The bureau closed its eighth year of service to the people of Willimantic and today find room for a greater service. All local organizations have lent support to the bureau during 1921, and interest in the work has reached its peak. The bureau has now taken in all the town of Windham. Sewing work has been done by local societies and clothing has been supplied to the needy.

The great problem is that of finding work for the man out of a job. It has been found that by meeting these men on common ground rather than to receive them for non-support, much good work is accomplished and good feeling results. On Thanksgiving 46 generous donors were provided and on Christmas gifts and food were distributed among 200 children.

The bureau continues its probation work and during the past year nine girls have been taken before the court, three sent to institutions and six placed on probation.

In other instances the bureau has assisted mothers who could find no other children or secured money for a young mother who had money held in trust until she became of age.

A summing-up of the work was as follows: Office calls 1965, outside calls 107, Telegrams sent 2, telephone calls 1079, grocery orders issued 12, fuel given 15 times, shoes 51 pairs, glasses 6 pairs, dental care 5, hospital care 6, X-ray 4, special medical care 1, taken to the hospital 16, taken to Newington home 2, home found 1, new cases 40.

The following directors were elected: M. E. Lincoln, Charles F. Riedford, James P. Bath, J. P. Carlsen, Mrs. C. C. Chase, E. P. Chesbro, Samuel Chesbro, George A. Barlow, Rev. W. D. Carpenter, Rev. John E. Clark, Rev. J. D. Dapillon, Rev. W. F. Borchert, Rev. D. D. Overton, Mrs. R. H. Fenton, Mrs. E. P. Taggart, Dr. John Weldon, W. A. Arnold, J. M. Shepard, J. E. Sullivan, J. M. Berard, Mrs. W. A. Dawson, Rev. H. S. MacCreedy, Rev. John Pearce, John Reilly, J. E. Carr and Miss Mary Leary.

Burlington Schurr, of Kensington, is to give a lecture on "The Tangled Wild-wood," Monday afternoon, Feb. 27, at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Schurr is a naturalist and has studied his subject from personal observation while in the native haunts of the animals of the woods. He will bring a collection of mounted animals which are to be on exhibition. Mr. Schurr has addressed gatherings of school children in many cities and is expected that much interest will be shown in his address.

The local branch of the Salvation Army is to start its drive for $2,200 on March 4th. Appeals to local organizations for support have resulted in the chamber of commerce appointing Valerius J. Murphy, Edward F. Whitmore, James P. Bath and Nelson A. Daniels as a committee and the Willimantic Rotary club electing James P. Bath and Charles W. Hill as a committee. Other local organizations are to appoint each a committee of two members to assist in the drive. The Salvation Army workers are to canvass the city and as the entire amount raised will be spent locally it is expected that the quota will be raised early.

Abraham Silverstein of No. 34 Bank street, this city, has been blind over to the criminal session of the Tolland county superior court charged with attempt at rape on Mrs. Augustina Twordowski, of South Coventry, hence being fixed at $200 by Justice William P. Hawkins. The case arose after Silverstein had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Twordowski, charging her with having committed an assault on him, by throwing scalding water over him while he was at her home Tuesday, Feb. 14, in court at South Coventry Mrs. Twordowski said that Silverstein came into her house without invitation and told her that he liked her. During the discussion he took her by the waist and arms and tried to push her into a bedroom just off the kitchen. The witness reached for a dipper and threw the hot water on the man. Mrs. Twordowski stuck to her story in spite of the questioning of Silverstein's attorney. Silverstein claimed he went into the house at her request and when she wanted to sell him some chickens he said he was not in the market for them. He finally bought some and as he was about to pay her for them she threw the hot water on him. Mr. Twordowski said he had not been selling chickens this winter. Judge Hawkins stated that the story of Mrs. Twordowski's claim outweighed that of Silverstein and he then nolleed the case of assault and found probable cause against Silverstein.

Funeral services for Jean J. Boucher were held Tuesday morning from his home, 92 Quaker avenue, at 10 o'clock. Rev. John E. Clark officiating. The committal service was read at the grave in the family plot at St. Mary's cemetery, South Coventry, by Rev. John E. Clark and Rev. James J. McGuinness. The bearers were Cyril Lamoureux, Alfred Marcel, Charles Montgomery, Joseph Sullivan, John Morris and William L. Shaw. The Killourey Brothers were in charge.

The funeral of Mrs. Jessie W. Orrok was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from No. 62 North street, Rev. H. S. MacCreedy conducting the service. Burial was in the new cemetery, South Coventry, by Rev. John E. Clark and Rev. James J. McGuinness. The bearers were Cyril Lamoureux, Alfred Marcel, Charles Montgomery, Joseph Sullivan, John Morris and William L. Shaw. The Killourey Brothers were in charge.

Funeral services for Mrs. Susan E. Maynard were held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from No. 8 North street, Rev. H. S. MacCreedy officiating. The body was placed in the receiving vault at the Willimantic cemetery. The bearers were Arthur Swanson, William Prier, Richard Kershaw and Bert Richards. Arrangements were in charge of Jay M. Shepard.

"Farmers' Night" was held Tuesday night at the chamber of commerce rooms, the event being the second annual held by the local chamber. When the welcome address was made by President Charles W. Hill over one hundred were in attendance. Several songs were sung and the meeting then turned over to W. N. Norris who introduced Charles M. Gardner, editor of the Grange Monthly Magazine as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Gardner had for the topic of his address "New England to the Front." The address embraced New England's three points, advantages, disadvantages and actions of her people. The keynote was "New England to the Front, because of her advantages, despite her handicaps, through the united efforts of her people."

New England, said Mr. Gardner, is slipping. Since 1880 when there were 12,000,000 acres under cultivation in New England, the acreage under cultivation has fallen off 14 per cent. until in 1920 there were but 10,000,000 acres under cultivation. During this time the population which normally eats three times a day has increased 55 per cent. This has partly been due to the great increase in industry in New England. During the great rush to the industries of our New England states the farmer was forgotten, but today people are gradually coming to recognize the farmer and what he means to them.

New England agriculturally is today far better off than some of the famed agricultural states of the south and west. The story of Alvin York, war hero who is practically obsolete because of money lost in farming when he left the country, is but the story of thousands of farmers of the western and southern states. Many of the western men believe that good times would come if their lands were to be sold to the farmers of New England. During the war many of the western men, secured more machinery and engaged more extensively in agriculture or in stock raising. When the federal bank failed, their loans there were nothing for these western banks to do but to call in their loans made to the farmers. These farmers had nothing but their poverty and broke and this went in the smash. Alford said at the car in the west for $2.50 per ton. Johnnie beat sells for $1.25 per pound on the hoof. In the corn belt the fuel used in the stores has been the corn because there is no market for it, yet thousands are starving in Europe.

In New England there is none of this. The fact that in about two hundred localities as many as 131,000 bushels of corn are raised. Out west thousands of acres fail to do this, and then again the transportation problem enters in. Freight rates are high, yet western feedstuffs come in to local markets. New England should have the goods here and can produce them at a much smaller cost. All the farmer asks is a fair pay for his produce and labor and there is no reason why this should not be. The west produces quantity, New England quality but because New Englanders fail to show about their produce as the westerners do it is believed that western feedstuffs are better. The west has quantity, New England, nearness to market, variety and quality; what more could be asked. With a well planned advertising campaign now is the time for New England to come to the front. There are thousands of acres of land in our states capable of producing feedstuffs if irrigated and tilled. Boost New England, we have the goods here and can produce them far better than the west because we are 1,000 miles nearer the market.

Another big problem we face both in our New England cities and in the rural districts is the alien question. We must welcome them. They are settling on our farm lands and making a success of farming. Our friends, even people have failed. Up through the Connecticut valley hundreds of the farmers are people who have come in during the past few years. They are raising crops and feedstuffs needed in our local markets. In years to come they will be great producers in New England. They are pilgrims the same as our countrymen. Let us welcome them, make them our friends, and thus solve the biggest question New England faces today.

Following Mr. Gardner's address a question period was held, after which refreshments were served.

The Outstanding Value Among the Fine Light Sixes

THE NEW CLEVELAND SIX

THOSE who have been accustomed to fine quality recognize in this new Cleveland Six the same high standards of excellence for which they have heretofore paid a high price. Those who have denied themselves such a car now find it within their reach.

Incorporated in this Cleveland are the individual style, the riding comfort, the dependable performance and the durability of large, expensive cars, without the extravagance of surplus weight and its consequent waste.

No Car Can Boast of Finer Engineering

Take for instance one mechanical detail. Each piston and each connecting rod is carefully weighted and made to exactly balance each of the other five. This practice has only been carried out on very expensive cars, and it is one of the many time-saving features which help to produce the smooth operation and durability of Cleveland's dependable overhead valve motor.

One ride will convince you that this Cleveland Six is so replete with quality that it cannot be classified by its low price.
